Current Resume Biography:

In the following you may find out such information you may need about me:

Biographically, I started my career as a school teacher, then moved to the National Centre of Educational Research & Development (NCERD) of Egypt in 1978. I obtained my PhD in Educational Administration from the University of Wales in Britain, since nearly 20 years. Along with this period, most of my work was mainly in that field. My practice was first in the field of research in the NCERD of Egypt, working with a team of USAID (1988-1991). Then I moved to the University of Cairo, Bani Sweif branch, Faculty of Education (1991- till now) teaching educational administration and other subjects related to education & research. During this period I was borrowed to work in the Sultanate of Oman as an expertise in the field of educational research in the MOE for Three years (1993-1996) and for other three years in the Minister's of Education Office, (Planning and Studies Dept. 1996-1999). I came back to Egypt to the Faculty of Education again. From 1999 up to now I hold three positions in the College (Deputy Dean of student affairs for one year, Deputy Dean of community development for three years, and Head of Depts. up to now).

In Aug. 2005 I was nominated, applied and selected to work as a liaison for the FOER/ERP through such procedures (an interview, answering some questions through an email with the people of Michigan University and a telephone chatting with the same people). We did (my colleagues and I) a good academic and field work in the areas of: teaching practice, induction, action research, ...etc). Unfortunately the project was terminated by the end of March 2006).

Trough 2005 till now I was nominated to join the field of training in my university. First I practiced training as a trainer without certificate, then I was prepared up the second circle of International Certified Trainers under the supervision of National Center of Faculty and Leadership Development (Ministry of Higher Education in Egypt) and I became A certified training in my university>

From April 2008, I'm working as an executive director of the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Unit in the Faculty of Education at Bani Sweif University.
